Compere :	Tim Webster	Summary ID :	S00033767221

Webster says more children are starting school earlier than before. Webster says sky rocketing childcare fees are encouraging parents to enrol their youngsters at the age of four. Webster says an organisation called 'ClassMovies' is giving parents the opportunity to look inside their children's classrooms. Webster speaks to Phillip Lewis, Managing Director, ClassMovies. Lewis explains how the ClassMovies system works. He talks about how the program was designed by teachers, and it captures rather than disrupts. He says they will be doing 1500 classrooms and the program launched in NSW and WA. He says Chatswood Primary School is involved. He discusses the benefits of the program. He says it may be expanded into a secondary school program. Webster talks about his years in preschool and what age children should go to school.
